THE HYBRID GIFTING MODEL

Sometimes the answer is both

This brief is for the property that doesn't fit cleanly into one camp — strong guest participation and the budget to justify a high-perceived-value in-hand gift, but also a database broad enough that choice matters and a calendar with room for more than one gifting moment.

Traditional continuity delivers better value at lower price points; digital gifting delivers a seamless experience with less overhead. Savvy operators leverage both to build a complete loyalty program.

HOW IT WORKS

Coordinated, Not Layered

The two formats aren't redundant — they do different jobs and run on different days.
One drives the visit, the other monetizes it.

CONTINUITY DAY · TRADITIONAL

Drives the visit

A high perceived-value, in-hand gift that pulls guests onto the property on giveaway day.

+

EVERY OTHER DAY · DIGITAL

Monetizes it

An earn-and-get store runs every day that isn't a continuity day — rewarding play and giving guests a reason to qualify again.

Both are sourced and themed together each month — one creative cycle covering two formats, not two programs to manage.

THE PROOF IS IN THE PAIRING

~500%

average program ROI from pairing both formats

A Northern California casino began pairing traditional and digital gifting after a 10-year gap. It raised the budget to one $35 weekly continuity gift and added a weekly earn-and-get reward tiered at $30 and $75. Two formats, one creative cycle — and the combination averaged $300,000 in revenue per month.

$300K	$35	$30/$75
AVG. MONTHLY REVENUE	WEEKLY CONTINUITY GIFT	TIERED EARN-AND-GET

ANOTHER WAY TO STRUCTURE IT

Treat Your VIP Guests Like VIPs

~7%

of an average database sits in the top two loyalty tiers — smaller than most properties assume.

Segment your top loyalty tiers out of continuity and simply give them a better gift — not the same one the middle tier picks up each week. No play-up, no extra qualification. It's recognition: we see you, and here's something worthy of your tier.

One Partner, Every Model, Strong ROI.

GPS runs traditional, digital, and hybrid loyalty solutions — evolve your rewards strategy without juggling multiple vendors.

Program figures from a Northern California casino pairing a $35 weekly traditional continuity gift with a $30/$75 tiered weekly earn-and-get: ~500% average program ROI and ~$300,000 average monthly revenue. Top-two-tier segmentation reflects roughly 7% of an average database. Illustrative; results vary by property, database, and reinvestment.